

The HoHoSeMo

A semimonthly news update of the NKU Honors Program
June 15, 2007

WOW! Look at our newest classroom! Northern Construction University has been living up to its name, even here at the Honors House! Taking up close and personal to the next level...with trees. Can't wait for you all to come back and enjoy how the Honors Woods have been transformed again by another group of amazing students led by Nick Bonner from the Art Department.

MEANWHILE! Andy Miller is helping others to make their garden grow. So far no deer have been sighted, but you never can know...

COOL! Alums have been gathering once a month in the evening for professor-led workshops. This week we had a new record, NKU Honors Alum, Ginny Southgate, and her daughter, Morgan Patton, an incoming freshmen into honors were both in attendance!

NEED YOU! We're looking for a few good men and women to join these fall semester classes.

- HNR 301: Ecofeminism. Is the environment a feminist issue? Find out.
- HNR 307: Spirituality in Film. Faith and/or/versus reason
- HNR 308: The Arts for Social Change. "Out Damned Spot!"

Register today!

BON VOYAGE(S)! Students traveling to Ireland and Mexico made it back safe and sound. No international incidents occurred. One student "dropped trou" to climb a mountain...you know who you are!

RECOVERY! Indy, our favorite honors dog, is recovering nicely from ACL surgery. She would appreciate all gifts, cards and snacks addressed directly to her, so that pesky man doesn't snitch 'em.

NEWS? Send us yours to the contact info BeLo!

HoHoSeMo is assembled and edited by Rees Storm, HoHoSeMoCo, on the 15th and the 30th of every month. Please contact her with questions regarding this publication at stormr@nku.edu.