Suzy Smith

11 January 2008

English 685

Dr. Kent-Drury

Title Demonstrating I Know What My Paper is About

A paper written in MLA format is formatted in this way. The text starts here and continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues.

The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues.

The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. In this paragraph, I introduce a quotation, then I provide the quotation:

> Note that the quotation is indented and that it is still single-spaced. It is not necessary to indent a quotation unless it is at least four lines. It is also not necessary to put quotation marks around a quotation that is indented. Note that the quotation is indented and that it > is still single-spaced. It is not necessary to indent a quotation unless it is at least four lines. It is also not necessary to put quotation marks around a quotation that is indented. (authorname page#)

In explain how the reader is supposed to read the quote, and the text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues.

The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. Next I add some "quoted material in the middle of a line that is less than four lines long" (author page#). The text continues and continues.

The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text continues and continues. The text ends, and the next page is the Works Cited page.

Works Cited

xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx xxxxxxx

xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx